Collection Title:

Duke Endowment Archives, 1902-2023 and undated, bulk 1925-2006

Creator:

Duke Endowment

Abstract:

The Duke Endowment was established by James Buchanan Duke as a perpetual charitable trust in 1924, with the following types of beneficiaries, mainly residing in North Carolina and South Carolina: non-profit hospitals and child care institutions; educational institutions; and rural churches of the Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South (now the United Methodist Church). The Duke Endowment Archives span the years 1902 to 2022, with the bulk of the material dating from 1925 through 2006. The collection documents the administration of the corpus of the trust and the charitable contributions made to the categories of recipients named in the Indenture and Deed of Trust establishing The Endowment. The majority of the records are arranged into series that reflect the organization of the institution, including the Board of Trustees, Treasurer's Office, Controller's Office, Investment Office, Education Division and Committee on Communications, Health Care and Child Care Divisions, and Rural Church Division. Smaller series, documenting such other activities as record-keeping, publications, and history of The Endowment, include: Central Files, Oral History Project, Trust Under Will, Publications, Miscellaneous, Photographic Materials, and Audiovisual Materials. The collection consists of the following types of materials: correspondence; minutes of meetings; financial records; applications for assistance from hospitals, child care institutions, and churches; statistics; publications; oral history tapes and transcripts; architectural drawings and blueprints; photographs; audio cassettes; and miscellaneous records and papers. The geographic focus is primarily North Carolina and South Carolina.

Background

Scope and Content

The Duke Endowment Archives span the years 1902 to 2023, although the bulk of the material dates from 1925 through 2006. The collection consists of correspondence; minutes of meetings; financial records; applications for assistance from hospitals, child care institutions, and churches; statistics; publications; oral history tapes and transcripts; architectural drawings and blueprints; photographs; audio cassettes; and miscellaneous records and papers. The collection documents the administration of the corpus of the trust and the charitable contributions made to the categories of recipients named in the Indenture and Deed of Trust establishing The Duke Endowment. Records are arranged to reflect the responsibilities and operations of the Endowment's trustees, officers, and divisions, with major series including: the Board of Trustees, Treasurer's Office, Controller's Office, Investment Office, Education Division and Committee on Communications, Health Care and Child Care Divisions, and Rural Church Division. Smaller series, documenting such other activities as record-keeping, publications, and the Endowment's history, include: Central Files, Oral History Project, Trust Under Will, Publications, Miscellaneous, Photographic Materials, and Audiovisual Materials. Subject areas represented in the collection include: the history of foundations, hospital and child care demographics and other statistics, rural church buildings and activities, the construction of Duke University, and the life of James Buchanan Duke. The geographic focus is primarily North Carolina and South Carolina.

When James Buchanan Duke established The Duke Endowment as a perpetual charitable trust in 1924, he formalized a tradition of philanthropy that he and other members of the Duke family had practiced for many years, especially with regard to Duke University (formerly Trinity College). The life of James B. Duke, including his philanthropic interests, is documented in the Oral History Project Series (RESTRICTED) and Miscellaneous Series (RESTRICTED), and, to a lesser extent, the Health Care and Child Care Divisions Series' (RESTRICTED) Feasibility Study and Rural Church Division Series (RESTRICTED), Correspondence Subseries. The 100th Anniversary of James B. Duke's birth and interest in Mr. Duke's home in Charlotte, N.C., are documented in the Miscellaneous Series.

The Indenture and Deed of Trust establishing The Duke Endowment delineates the type of beneficiaries eligible for its support. These include non-profit hospitals and child care institutions; educational institutions; and rural churches of the Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South (now the United Methodist Church), including retired ministers and widows and orphans of deceased ministers. Beneficiaries usually reside within North Carolina and South Carolina, i.e., generally the areas served by the water power facilities established by Mr. Duke, although under certain conditions other states may be served. The textile mills served by hydroelectric power were of special interest to Mr. Duke. A statistical study of cotton mills that he requested is in the Miscellaneous Series. The Indenture and Deed of Trust specifies that hospitals and child care institutions for Whites and African Americans should be supported. The Duke Endowment provides technical assistance as well as funding. Specific educational institutions were named in the Indenture: Davidson College, Davidson, N.C.; Duke University, Durham, N.C.; Furman University, Greenville, S.C.; and Johnson C. Smith University, Charlotte, N.C.

For the original corpus of The Endowment, James B. Duke assigned shares of stock from Duke Power Company, British-American Tobacco Company, R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, George W. Helme Company, Republic Cotton Mills, and Judson Mills. The Indenture stipulates how income and capital from the corpus should be managed and includes specific directives for handling the stock of Duke Power Company. Continuous records for the financial management of the assets of The Duke Endowment are in the Treasurer's Office (RESTRICTED), Controller's Office (RESTRICTED), and Investment Office Series (RESTRICTED). The volumes in the Controller's Office Series include records of payments made and management of the corpus as well as The Endowment's general operating expenses, such as salaries, rents, furniture, and supplies. The Investment Office Series contains records pertaining to companies in which The Duke Endowment invested. The Treasurer's Office Series includes an historical overview of The Endowment's expenditures and includes the minutes of the Finance Committee, which was established in 1975. The Treasurer's Office Series includes Beneficiary Information System reports, which provide geographic breakdowns of payments to institutions from the inception of The Duke Endowment to the present, and a summary that lists each institution or beneficiary group and how it used funds from The Endowment. The Treasurer's Office and Investment Office records do not reflect the overall financial management of The Duke Endowment.

The first members of the Board of Trustees of The Duke Endowment--Nanaline H. Duke, George G. Allen, William R. Perkins, William B. Bell, Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Walter C. Parker, Alexander H. Sands, Jr., William S. Lee, Charles I. Burkholder, Norman A. Cocke, Edward C. Marshall, and Bennette C. Geer--were named in the Indenture as parties of the second part. As stipulated by the Indenture, the trustees were required to meet at least ten times a year and the minutes of the meetings were to be recorded. The minutes are located in the Board of Trustees Series (RESTRICTED). Miscellaneous papers and pictures of some trustees, especially of Watson S. Rankin, a physician, who was also head of the Hospital and Child Care Divisions for many years, are in the Miscellaneous Series. Rankin was an early proponent of rural hospitals as a way to make health care available to greater numbers of citizens. The related correspondence of Graham L. Davis, assistant to Watson S. Rankin, is in the Health Care and Child Care Division Series (RESTRICTED), Health Care Subseries. The Publications Series includes material by or about several trustees.

The Indenture directed the trustees to expend funds for the establishment of Duke University. Designated by Mr. Duke "as one of the principal objects of this trust," a percentage of The Duke Endowment's corpus was to be applied annually for its support. Duke Construction Company was organized by the Board of Trustees to build the university (now known as the West Campus). The architect Horace Trumbauer designed the campus buildings and plant, and the landscape was designed by Olmstead Brothers. Financial records for the construction of Duke University, including the operation of Duke Construction Company, are in the Controller's Office Series (RESTRICTED) and architectural drawings for the buildings, campus plot, and landscaping are in the Miscellaneous Series. Documentation of The Endowment's support of the other educational institutions named in the Indenture, including disbursements and income generated, is in the volumes in the Controller's Office Series.

Non-profit hospitals receive support from The Duke Endowment for free days of care for individuals unable to pay the costs of hospitalization. If all the funds designated for free days of care are not spent in any given year, excess funds may be used for support of hospital construction, maintenance, and equipment. Medical education is also supported, and technical assistance for administrative functions is provided through published manuals. A similar arrangement was established for societies, agencies, or institutions that cared for orphans and half-orphans. The Health Care and Child Care Divisions, Central Files (RESTRICTED), and Publications Series provide detailed documentation for institutions and programs that receive assistance from The Duke Endowment.

The history of hospital services and statistics for the types of admissions in North Carolina and South Carolina, especially rural areas, can be studied in the Health Care and Child Care Divisions Series, Health Care Division Subseries [NOTE: Formerly known as the Hospital and Child Care Divisions Series and the Hospital Division Subseries, respectively]. The applications from individual hospitals, as well as summaries and statistics that group institutions into comparable categories, provide important documentation about the various types of hospitals and their clients in North Carolina and South Carolina, including hospitals' economic statuses, physical plants, and in-patient and out-patient demographics. Most of the earlier statistics include breakdowns for the number of African American and White patients served and their medical profiles.

The history of institutional child care in North Carolina and South Carolina is documented in the Health Care and Child Care Divisions Series, Child Care Division Subseries. The Child Care Division applications for assistance describe the individual institutions that request support from The Duke Endowment. The applications include information about the physical plant, administration and financial status, population statistics, and the physical care and education of children. The summaries use the information in the applications for assistance and group it by type of institution, e.g., religious, community, county, state, more than 150 beds, under 151 beds with farms, White, African American, etc.

Minutes in the Health Care and Child Care Divisions Series, Health Care and Child Care Committee Subseries document some discussions of how funds would be allocated by The Duke Endowment. The published Annual Reports of the Hospital and Child Care Divisions include substantial statistical information and summary reports about specific institutions served during the year. These reports, located in the Publications Series, are a useful place to begin research about hospital and child care. Reports for these divisions are also in the Year Books.

Between 1915 and 1924, Mr. Duke made systematic contributions to the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, for churches in the North Carolina and Western North Carolina conferences. His contributions were first administered through the Board of Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South. In 1920 Trinity College began to administer the funds. The Church Architect Program files in the Rural Church Division Series (RESTRICTED), Miscellaneous Subseries reflect another arrangement between Duke University and the Rural Church Division. The creation of The Duke Endowment established a formal trust to continue similar support for building and operating rural churches, income for superannuated ministers, and widows and orphans of deceased ministers. The records of the Rural Church Series, Building Grant Files and Church Maintenance Files Subseries document the assistance that individual churches received to build, maintain, and operate churches. Many of these records include oversize blueprints or architectural drawings. There are also records for special projects and other activities supported by The Duke Endowment. The Correspondence Subseries includes information about the concerns of specific churches as well as Methodism and religion in general. Area economic conditions were often described in the correspondence.

The Education Division and the Committee on Communications are currently responsible for publications produced by The Duke Endowment. The Publications Series is a useful starting place for information about The Endowment's activities for a given year or for a historical overview of the foundation. Publications, especially the Annual Reports and Year Books, provide information about the trustees and staff; changes in the organization of The Duke Endowment; and summary information about various divisions, including financial distributions and income, statistics, and specific programs and activities supported by The Endowment at various institutions. Additional publications are in the Miscellaneous Series. Daily operations of The Duke Endowment are documented in the General Correspondence in the Central Files Series. Some general history about The Endowment is located in the Miscellaneous Series, including a signed copy of the Indenture and anniversary celebrations of the 1930s, 1960s, 1970s, and 1990s.

The Oral History Project Series (RESTRICTED), a project initiated in 1963, records the reminiscences of people who were knowledgeable about Duke University, the Duke family, and North Carolina and the region in general. The interviews were conducted by Frank W. Rounds of the Oral History Project of Columbia University. The correspondence includes outlines of the names of interviewees and the subjects they were to discuss. Several of the interviews discuss members of the Duke family including Washington Duke (1820-1905), Benjamin Newton (BN) Duke (1855-1929), Mary Duke Biddle (1887-1960), James Buchanan (J.B.) Duke (1856-1925), and Doris Duke (1912-1993). Note: Several of the interviews contain racist terms.

Two groups of non-print materials and of oversize materials complete the collection. The Photographic Materials Series (RESTRICTED) contains approximately 200 photographs relating mainly to the Rural Church Division Series, especially the Committees on Church Architecture, and to the Miscellaneous Series. Several audio cassette recordings in the Audiovisual Materials Series (RESTRICTED) document miscellaneous meetings and addresses pertaining to the Health Care and Child Care Divisions Series. Although series from throughout the collection are represented in the Oversize Materials (RESTRICTED), this group is particularly rich in blueprints and other architectural drawings that support related materials in the Miscellaneous Series and in the Rural Church Division Series, Building Grant Files Subseries.

Arrangement

The majority of the records of The Duke Endowment are arranged into series that reflect the organization of the institution. Since the administration of the Health Care Division and the Child Care Division was correlated until 1989, the records for the two divisions were placed in one series with individual treatment in two subseries. The original names for these divisions were, respectively, the Hospital Section and the Orphan Section; both are referred to by their contemporary names, the Health Care Division and the Child Care Division, throughout this finding aid except when the earlier names appear in the titles of documents.

Containers for the collection are not consecutively numbered throughout; each series in the collection has a unique set of numbers. Numbers are preceded by a letter code that is derived from the first letter of each word in a series name or the first few letters of a series name that is a single word, e.g., BOT 1 for Board of Trustees Series box number 1; PUB 1 for Publications Series box number 1.

Materials from multiple series in later accessions may be boxed together (for example, Box BOT 30 also includes Trust Under Will series materials).

The volumes in the total collection are not consecutively numbered throughout. The numbers on volumes in the Controller's Office Series and Trust Under Will Series were assigned at the time of the record's creation. Consecutive numbers in these series were assigned to specific types of account books, such as ledgers. The Minutes of the Board of Trustees and the Reports of the Secretary are each consecutively numbered within the Board of Trustees Series.

All of the correspondence and related materials filed in the Central Files Series of The Duke Endowment are in a microfiche format. Researchers should refer to the Index to Microfiche Codes filed at the beginning of the series. A detailed index to the contents of the Central Files is in the Library at The Duke Endowment offices in Charlotte, N.C.

With the exception of the Minutes of the Board of Trustees of The Duke Endowment and the Minutes of the Trustees of the Trust Under Will, the minutes of meetings of the committees of the various divisions of The Endowment are located at the end of each series in which they are found. Minutes for most of these committees date only from the 1960s to the present and do not reflect the entire history of The Endowment's work in these areas.

Access Restrictions

Access to portions of the records of The Duke Endowment is restricted as follows:

(1) The Annual Report and other publications of the Duke Endowment or its divisions are open for research; see the Publications Series for these materials.

(2) Access to the Oral History Series is governed by agreements with the interviewees.

(3) Access to materials in all other series is restricted to trustees, officers, and staff of The Endowment and to researchers who have received prior written permission from The Endowment's president, chairman, or their designated representative.

In addition, any researchers who are granted access to the materials must sign a statement indicating that they will not release the following information without prior written consent of the concerned individual or institution:

(a) personally identifiable information about any living individual; or (b) institutionally identifiable information less than twenty-five years old about any institution still in existence. (4) All items not obviously covered by 1 and 2 above should be assumed to be governed by restriction 3.

Use Restrictions

The copyright interests in this collection have not been transferred to Duke University. For more information, consult the copyright section of the Regulations and Procedures of the David M. Rubenstein Rare Book & Manuscript Library.

Acquisition Information

The Duke Endowment Archives were received by the David M. Rubenstein Rare Book & Manuscript Library as deposits, transfers, and gifts in 1941-2015; 2018; 2019; 2023-2024; 2026.

Processing Information

Processed by Michael Shumate, Paula Jeannet, Donna Longo DiMichele, Ted Holt, and Madeleine Bagwell Perez, July 2008.

Encoded by Michael Shumate, July 2008.

This inventory represents the entire collection as received through November, 2008. The Duke Endowment Archives were first fully processed by the library in 1992. Subsequent additions were gathered in 1998 and processed as the 1998 Addendum, but not incorporated into the document for the 1992 inventory. The current version of the finding aid merges those two documents and further includes full processing of all additions received from 1998-2008. Finally, the container list has been updated to remove citations for all materials the library no longer holds, whether due to transfer back to The Endowment or to scheduled destruction of certain categories of records.

Updated with new accessions from 2011-2026. Accession 2012-0238 was intellectually incorporated in Dec. 2021. This accession is not reboxed.

Updated to make Oral History Project Interview Tapes a subseries, Tracy M. Jackson, April 2021.

Central Files Series (RESTRICTED), 1924-2009 and undated

Physical Description: 36 boxes

Scope and Contents note

Includes Index to Microfiche Codes, and microfiche copies of general correspondence that is dated five years or older and some applications for assistance for the Health Care and Child Care Divisions. General Correspondence includes letters, agenda, meeting notices, minutes, reports, audits, statistics, publications, clippings, form letters, and files for the Methodist Home. Hospital Files include correspondence, financial reports, information about health care in various counties, applications for assistance, and clippings. Child Care Files include correspondence, reports on conditions, descriptions of facilities, financial information, some early applications, and clippings.

General Correspondence is arranged chronologically by groupings of years, then by alpha-numeric subject codes. Hospital Files and Child Care Files are arranged chronologically by groupings of years, then alphabetically by institution name.

Controller's Office Series (RESTRICTED), 1924-2008 and undated

Scope and Contents note

Includes payroll records; worksheets; minutes of meetings; and books of account including general ledgers, journals, cashbooks, voucher records and vouchers, bond, vault and dividend ledgers, and agency account books.

The arrangement of this series is first by record type and then by volume number. Originally many of the volumes dated prior to 1985 were bound and unboxed, while those volumes dated after 1985 were boxed. In 2011, the bound, unboxed volumes were unbound and boxed, thus accounting for the inconsistency in the box numbers.

Some volumes are also available on microfilm, microfiche, and compact disks, to be found arranged at the end of the Books of Account subseries. See also Oversize Materials. Arranged in descending order according to the hierarchy of the bookkeeping system.

Health Care and Child Care Divisions Series (RESTRICTED), 1923-1999 and undated

Physical Description: 40 boxes

Scope and Contents note

There are three subseries: Health Care Division Subseries, Child Care Division Subseries, and Health Care and Child Care Committee Subseries. Preceding both subseries is a feasibility study for the funding of hospitals and child care institutions. This series was formerly known as the Hospital and Child Care Divisions Series, and the original names of these two divisions were the Hospital Section and the Orphan Section; except when these earlier names appear as part of the titles of publications, the contemporary names Health Care Division and Child Care Division are used throughout this finding aid.

Feasibility study: Report by Alexander H. Sands, Jr., 1924

Physical Description: 3 folders

Box HCCD 1

Health Care Division Subseries, 1925-1989 and undated

Scope and Contents note

Includes applications from individual hospitals, summaries of statistical information compiled from individual applications, statistics, minutes of committee meetings, surveys, correspondence and writings of Graham L. Davis, and maps showing the distribution of hospitals in North and South Carolina.

The summaries for hospitals are divided by state. See also Oversize Materials. Arranged in the order in which The Duke Endowment proceeds with the application process and the compilation of data: applications for assistance from individual hospitals, summaries, then statistics. Microfilm is numbered according to the original reel numbers ascribed by The Duke Endowment. [NOTE: This subseries was formerly known as the Hospital Division Subseries.]

Child Care Division Subseries, 1923-1989 and undated

Scope and Contents note

Includes applications from individual child care providers, summaries of statistical information compiled from individual applications, statistics, minutes of committee meetings, and maps showing the distribution of child care institutions.

Arranged in the order in which The Duke Endowment proceeds with the application process and the compilation of data: applications for assistance from individual child care organizations, summaries, then statistics. The applications and the summaries are divided by state. Applications are then arranged alphabetically by the name of the institution; earlier versions of the institution name are in parentheses following the most recent version. See also Oversize Materials.

Oral History Project Series (RESTRICTED), 1963-1996

Duke Endowment Oral History Interviews, 1963-1964

Scope and Contents

Includes original open reel tape audio of interviews conducted by Frank W. Rounds for the Duke Endowment. Marshall Pickens, Trustee of Duke University and member of the Duke Endowment, regularly joins Rounds in his interviews. Series includes transcripts of interviews and photographs of interviewees for select interviews. Some publications collected by Rounds for a biography of James B. Duke are in the Publications Series. Note: Several of the interviews contain racist terms.

Interviews are arranged alphabetically by last name of the interviewee, and then by interview part where this information is available or evident from the recordings.

Access Restrictions:

Digital preservation and access copies have been made for all tapes. Tapes may contain many interviews or partial interviews. Digital access copies in MP3 format are requestable.

Related Material:

Duke Endowment Oral History Project materials are also housed at Columbia University: <https://clio.columbia.edu/catalog/4072699>.
