Background

Scope and Content

The Faith Holsaert papers document the life, writings, and activism of author and civil rights activist Faith Holsaert from 1950-2020 through correspondence, newsletters, publications, and other materials. A large portion of the collection consists of correspondence and ephemera from her involvement in the civil rights movement, including SNCC (Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee), the Mississippi Summer Project, and the Southwest Georgia Voter Registration project. The collection also includes publications, ephemera, and other materials related to Holsaert's work on labor relations and social justice in West Virginia, as well as her involvement in the women's rights and LGBT rights movements. Materials from the writing and publishing of Hands on the Freedom Plow, as well as many other writings by Holsaert, are in the collection. The collection also contains personal memorabilia and materials relating to Holsaert's childhood and family.

Biographical/Historical

Faith Holsaert is a white, Jewish civil rights and community activist. She was born in New York in 1943, and was raised by her Jewish mother, Eunice Spellman Holsaert, and her African American music teacher, Charity Abigail Bailey. Holsaert took a year off from Barnard after her freshman year in 1962 to work with the SNCC. She was one of the earliest female student field workers. She worked on a voter registration project in Albany, Georgia, and on the Mississippi Summer Project. Subsequent to her civil rights work, Holsaert has worked on behalf of the back-to-the-land movement in New Mexico, labor relations in West Virginia, the Brown Berets, the anti-war movement, and LGBT rights. She is a co-editor of the book Hands on the Freedom Plow: Personal Accounts of Women in SNCC (2012), and has written elsewhere about her experiences in the civil rights movement. She currently lives in Durham, NC.

Writings and Artwork, 1960s-2020

Scope and Contents

Series includes several draft manuscripts of Holsaert's books, poetry, short stories, and notes, both published and unpublished. Holsaert's writings feature both fiction and nonfiction incorporating her life experiences as a woman raised in a biracial household, as a daughter of two mothers, and as a mother herself. Writings also reflect her social justice activism, particularly her work with SNCC and feminist and LGBTQ+ movements. The writings span from Holsaert's teenage years through her later adulthood. Also included are correspondence with publishers, personal sketchbooks and other art, and her published work appearing in journals.
