Background

Scope and Content

The collection consists largely of professional papers including subject and research files, correspondence, and writings. Materials pertain to Hulka's involvement in the education, promotion, innovation, and application of women's and reproductive health. Specific topics include laparoscopy, abortion rights, contraception, professional organizations, medical procedures, and educational materials. The collection also includes examples of medical instruments (some of which were developed and patented by Hulka), especially a variety of international IUDs and other forms of contraception including the eponymous "Hulka clip." Also contains drawings and photographs of surgical procedures; educational and presentation slides; blueprints of medical instruments; and correspondence and essays provided by colleagues and students. Acquired as part of the Sallie Bingham Center for Women's History and Culture.

Biographical/Historical

Jaroslav Hulka (1930-2014) was a physician and teacher at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and long-time supporter of women's reproductive rights. He was a founding member of the UNC Population Center, pioneering OB/GYN, inventor/innovator of the Hulka Clip, laparoscopy, intrauterine devices, and other medical apparatus and procedures.
