Summary

Collection Title:

Jewish Orthodox Publication collection, 1914-2004

Abstract:

Jewish Orthodoxy, the traditional section of Jewry that maintains a religiously observant way of life based on a divinely ordained Torah and its laws, is composed of many groups that differ by certain customs and ideological trends. This collection documents Jewish Orthodoxy in its various manifestations through ephemeral publications created and distributed by Orthodox Jewish groups in Israel, the United States, and around the world. The materials range in date from 1914-2004, with the bulk of the material published between 1950-1995.

Background

Scope and Content

The collection contains single-issue and short-run serials and ephemeral publications from various Orthodox Jewish groups around the world, including Israel and the United States. The materials range in date from 1914 to 2004, and document a variety of subjects, including social customs, variants of Jewish Orthodoxy, neighborhoods within Israel, and Orthodox education. Jewish Orthodoxy is defined here as the traditional section of Jewry that maintains a religiously observant way of life based on a divinely ordained Torah.

Biographical/Historical

The Jewish Orthodoxy Publication Collection was compiled by Duke University Libraries staff during the processing of a large gift of books and serials from the University of Maryland. These materials, all of which relate directly to Orthodox Judaism, were separated from other print materials because of their ephemeral nature; most are small pamphlets, single issues, or small runs of a periodical or newsletter.

Return to Table of Contents

Arrangement

Organized into the following series: Agudat Yisra'el; Rabbinical Council- United States; Beit Ya'akov; Children's; Kashrut, Shemitah; Ha-Mizrachi; Haredim; Hasidism; Conference of European Rabbis; Mitnagdim; Ne'emane Ha-torah; Orthodox General; Ramat Elhanan-Bnei Brak; Hozrim Bi'teshuvah; Religious Zionism; Technology and Halakhah; Yad L'Achim; and Yeshivot. Titles arranged alphabetically by Hebrew character within each series.

Hasidism, 1933-2003

Physical Description: 10 linear feet

Scope and Contents note

Publications of various Hasidic groups. Hasidism began as a religious renewal movement in eighteenth century Eastern Europe, among the followers of Rabbi Yisra'el ben Eli'ezer Ba'al Shem Tov, directed towards instilling piety into the life the Jewish masses. Over the years the Hasidic movement segmented into many groups, each following a certain rabbi who became known as "tzadic" and in many cases created a dynasty that continued to be the center of that particular group. The majority of the items in this section consist of publications of different Hasidic Groups.

Titles arranged alphabetically by Hebrew character within each subseries.
